3	Jose scurried up a makeshift ladder, which was nothing more than strips of scrap wood nailed to the trunk of the ancient oak. He pulled himself onto the flimsy sheet of plywood that served as the floor of the tree stand. He gently set his rifle down and took a seat in one of the two aluminum folding chairs while his father slowly followed him.
4	Jose noticed that his father was slightly out of breath when he reached the top, stopping to pull a Thermos of steaming coffee from his deep jacket pocket and grimacing as he swallowed. Jose felt his own chest constricting and realized he had been holding his breath for some time. He recalled his father's advice about nerves — "deep breaths work better than you think" — and drew a big lungful of air. His father heard him exhaling. "You nervous?" he asked. "No . . . well, a little," Jose admitted.
